Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

February 16, 2025

Jesus came down with the Twelve and stood on a stretch of level ground with a great crowd of his disciples and a large number of the people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coastal region of Tyre and Sidon.

And raising his eyes toward his disciples he said: “Blessed are you who are poor, for the kingdom of God is yours. Blessed are you who are now hungry, for you will be satisfied. Blessed are you who are now weeping, for you will laugh. Blessed are you when people hate you, and when they exclude and insult you, and denounce your name as evil on account of the Son of Man. Rejoice and leap for joy on that day! Behold, your reward will be great in heaven. For their ancestors treated the prophets in the same way. But woe to you who are rich, for you have received your consolation. Woe to you who are filled now, for you will be hungry. Woe to you who laugh now, for you will grieve and weep. Woe to you when all speak well of you, for their ancestors treated the false prophets in this way.” —Luke 6:17, 20-26

Reflections

The Tabernacle

The word tabernacle derives from the Latin tabernaculum (tent), and recalls the Jewish “meeting tent,” which housed the ark of the covenant and thus embodied the presence of God among the people. In Catholic churches today, the tabernacle houses communion bread that has been consecrated at the liturgy. The practice of reserving the eucharist dates back in some places to the earliest days. In the second century, a small amount of consecrated communion bread was placed in an ambry or a pyx, often shaped like a casket or a dove. This vessel was small enough to be carried to the homes of those who were unable to attend the community’s eucharist. This was the only reason for reservation. Devotion to the reserved eucharist grew during the Middle Ages when the reception of communion declined. By the sixteenth century, the custom of a fixed container for the reserved eucharist—the tabernacle as part of the main altar—was in place; in 1614 it became prescribed practice for most places.

The normative guidelines of the church today indicate that the tabernacle be placed elsewhere than on an altar, and never on the altar used for the liturgy. An appropriate setting would be on a pillar, in a wall niche, or especially, in a chapel set apart from the main assembly area. (The chapel is the clear preference of Roman liturgical law.) Such a setting should also provide for the private devotion of the faithful. The tabernacle in its modern setting still recalls the ancient image of a house for the divine presence, and reminds the assembly of those in the parish who are confined to their households, waiting for the ministry of those who have celebrated the eucharist.

The tabernacle is made of noble materials, giving it a quiet dignity as the symbol of an ever-present God. A lamp burns nearby in silent witness of this mystery.

THE

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

“It is so good to be poor, to have nothing, to await all from God!” These sentiments of the humble French religious sister St. Jeanne Jugan sum up the spirit of Jesus’ words in today’s Gospel. Jesus praises poverty, hunger, sadness, and rejection, but certainly not as ends in themselves; God does not take pleasure in our suffering! He does use our suffering, however, to awaken us to our need for him. Poverty can spur us to pursue heavenly goods, and thus Jesus assures the poor, “the kingdom of God is yours.” Hunger can cause us to seek God who alone can truly satiate our desires, and thus Jesus says to the hungry, “you will be satisfied.” Those who weep will laugh, Jesus says – so long as their sadness inspires them to seek happiness in the service of God and the joys of eternal life. For all of us, no matter our means or our circumstances, today’s Gospel is a reminder to allow everything – including our difficulties, disappointments, and unfulfilled desires – to turn our hearts to God and rely on his loving care.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

It can be difficult to practice the spirit of the Beatitudes (as the “blessings” in today’s Gospel are called) in the moment. Suffering, distress, and confusion easily divert our attention from God as we attempt to “make the problem go away.” Sometimes we are even tempted to give up, to turn aside from God, and to seek consolation in other things. This is exactly the opposite of what he wants for us, and for good reason! God knows that it is best for us to always rely on him. This is why, as today’s first reading explains, the man who trusts in the Lord is secure – “like a tree planted beside the waters ... it fears not the heat when it comes” – and fruitful – “its leaves stay green.” For those who trust in the Lord, help comes from the all-powerful, infinitely loving Creator of the universe. When we entrust ourselves to him, we have nothing to fear.

ACCOMPANY

Is there someone in your life who is struggling with fear, loneliness, anxiety, or sadness? Take time to pray with that person and, together, try to discover God’s invitation to a deeper reliance on him in the midst of the distress. These moments of suffering are never occasions for us to get “preachy.” Instead, accompany your friend and be a reminder of the hope we have in God.

JOY

Jesus First, Others Next, Yourself Last

For the month of February, our Religious Education program is practicing: JOY: Jesus First, Others Next, Yourself Last.

For the first week of February, our younger learners created Valentines for the residents at the two nursing homes we assist: Brandywine and Little Neck. The children made the Valentines and our volunteers, who visit the nursing homes, distributed them to the residents.

The upper grades had their project this past week, putting together care packages for a woman's shelter. More information on their service will be next week.

With religious education off for February break, we will end the month with one last drive for the last week of February.

Brothers and sisters: Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with which you were sealed for the day of redemption. All bitterness, fury, anger, shouting, and reviling must be removed from you, along with all malice. And be kind to one another, compassionate, forgiving one another as God has forgiven you in Christ.

So be imitators of God, as beloved children, and live in love, as Christ loved us and handed himself over for us as a sacrificial offering to God for a fragrant aroma.

Love and Serve

Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

The readings for today invite us to reflect on the nature of trust, either in God or worldly things. The first reading from Jeremiah vividly illustrates the contrasts between those who place their confidence in human strength and those who trust in the Lord, "Cursed is the man who trusts in human beings, who makes flesh his strength, whose heart turns away from the Lord." —Jeremiah 17:5. In contrast, the Prophet evokes the image of one who trusts in the Lord is likened to a tree planted by water, flourishing and bearing fruit even in times of drought. This powerful metaphor encourages us to root our lives in faith, drawing strength from God, who provides sustenance and hope. In the second reading, Paul emphasizes the centrality of the resurrection of Christ, arguing that if there is no resurrection, then our faith is in vain. Paul's assertion stresses the resurrection as the foundation of Christian hope, calling us to hold steadfastly to this hope. In the Gospel, Jesus presents the Beatitudes, a set of blessings that outline the attitudes and virtues that characterize Christian life and promise divine rewards for those who embody them. Jesus blesses the poor, the hungry, and those who are hated, insulted, and denounced while warning the rich and complacent. Christ instructs us to embody His love in our daily interactions.

The readings call us to examine our own lives and where our trust is placed. Our endeavors to rely on God and trust His words can be countercultural, especially in our society and world. Practical ways to embody these teachings include acts of charity, seeking justice for the marginalized, caring for refugees, and fostering a spirit of forgiveness. As funding to Catholic Relief Services and non-governmental relief organizations face sweeping freezes, Archbishop Timothy P. Broglio, president of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), offered the following, "Some provisions contained in the Executive Orders, such as those focused on the treatment of immigrants and refugees, foreign aid, expansion of the death penalty, and the environment, are deeply troubling and will have negative consequences, many of which will harm the most vulnerable among us." Cardinal Michael Czerny, head of the Vatican office for migrants, the environment, and the church's Caritas International charity, says, "What the Church teaches is very well summed up by Pope Francis, who says that our obligation, not only as Christians but as human beings, is to welcome people, to protect them, to promote them, and to integrate them." Fr. James Martin, S.J., editor-at-large of America, a monthly Catholic magazine published by US Jesuits, wrote, "Caring for migrants and refugees is not optional for Catholics." —americamagazine.org, 1/27/25.

We are invited to deepen our faith and trust in God and live out the Beatitudes in daily life, efforts that require intentionality and courage. Trusting God and His teachings is an active engagement with our faith, a commitment to believe in His goodness and providence in every aspect of our lives so we can experience the peace and joy that comes from living in accordance with His will.

Go in Peace to Love and Serve the Lord.
